

United Way of Long Island

Young Professionals Network

United Way of Long Island's Young Professionals Network (YPN) is an energized group of working young professionals committed to helping make a difference for communities across Long Island. The YPN inspires professional growth and strengthens our community through networking, mentorship, philanthropy, and volunteerism. Committee members become valuable resources and use their personal and professional networking skills to help advocate to support United Way of Long Island's vital services for the next generation.
